

Planning Palmy's path

We're working on putting together Palmy's next long-term plan, which outlines the projects, services and priorities for our city over the next decade.

Our long-term plan helps us determine what work Council needs to do, when, and how much it will cost. It also helps us determine what your rates will be in the coming years.

We prepare a new long-term plan, in consultation with you, every 3 years.

Lots of the things in our draft plan will be based around maintaining the services and infrastructure we provide while also responding to changes in regulations, planning our growth and continuing to look after you!

The current economic climate and cost of living for our residents and ratepayers is top of mind as we prepare this plan - so your feedback is vital.

In April 2024 we'll be asking you what you think of our draft plan, and what's most important to you.

For more information on how the long-term plan works and how you can have your say, go to:

pncc.govt.nz/ltp

Help us shape Palmy over the next decade

In April 2024 we'll be asking you to have your say on our long-term plan.

We'll be asking for your views on important topics including:

- future proofing community facilities (including seismic upgrades)
- how our city will grow and develop
- large transport and water projects.

And lots more!

We want to hear from you, so keep an eye out in your letterbox, our website and social media pages.

Consultation will happen during April 2024.